

Quiz 23-1: Pronoun reference

---

Edit the following sentences to correct errors in pronoun reference. In some cases you may need to decide on an antecedent that the pronoun might logically refer to. Example:

The sky was still leaden, but we thought <sup>the fog</sup>~~it~~ would burn off.
^

1. In Shakespeare's Macbeth, he explores the problem of evil.
2. If you have a sweet tooth, visit the confectioner's shop, where it is still made as it was a hundred years ago.
3. The new museum is full of information presented in novel formats. They even have a learning center that simulates space flight.
4. After working in the apple orchard all morning, we took a bushel of them home to eat.
5. He recognized her as the woman which had won an Olympic gold medal for swimming.
6. Juan told Jeremy that he had been promoted.
7. In John Donne's poetry, he often juxtaposes the sacred with the profane.
8. In Saudi Arabia it is considered ill mannered for you to reject a gift.
9. When Aunt Harriet put the cake on the table, it collapsed.
10. Be sure to visit Istanbul's bazaar, where they sell everything from Persian rugs to electronic calculators.